

Horst Noack
Dorothea Kahr-Gottlieb (eds.)

PROMOTING THE PUBLIC'S HEALTH

EUPHA 2005
Conference Book

Health Promotion Publications
Verlag für Gesundheitsförderung • Gamburg

The European Commission

Contents

Prefaces	5
Maria Rauch-Kallat, Austrian Minister of Health and Women	6
Helmut Hirt, Styrian Regional Minister of Health	7
Gerhard Franz Walter, Rector of the Medical University of Graz	8
Introduction: The 2005 EUPHA Conference	9
About the conference and the conference book Horst Noack, Dorothea Kahr-Gottlieb	10
Organisation and process of the 2005 conference Dorothea Kahr-Gottlieb	17
Scope and purpose of the conference Horst Noack	22
The European Public Health Debate	37
Scientific Perspectives of Modern Public Health
Introduction: Public health from different economic, sociological and meta-theoretical perspectives	38
10 Statements on the future of public health in Europe: Where do we stand now? Walter Ricciardi, Dineke Zeegers	39
The contribution of health to the economy in the European Union Marc Suhrcke, Martin McKee, Regina Sauto Arce	44
Social capital, social inequality and the healthy organisation Bernhard Badura	53
The Health Society Hona Kickbusch	61

Research and Practice: State of the Art	67
Introduction: Health challenges, health interventions and collaborative efforts	68
Health challenges
Europe evolving towards a region of non-mental-health stigma Milan Mirjanič, Barbara Bernik, Andrej Marušič	72
Challenges in communicable disease prevention and control in the 21 st century Alenka Kraigher	78
The growing burden of chronic disease: new challenges for public health Iveta Nagyova, Jitse P. van Dijk, Horst Noack	84
Public health genomics on the European and international level: Getting ready for the future Angela Brand, Helmut Brand	91
Health promotion and health care
Linking health promotion and health care in the interest of a new public health Jürgen Pelikan	99
Planning for health in the 21 st century? Community versus (supra-) national health promotion policy Selma Šogorić	107
Building health promotion capacities in local settings: Community readiness and community participation Horst Noack, Karin Reis-Klingspiegl	113
Health promotion through community building Gunnar Tellnes	123
Sickness absence and the promotion of public health: Cooperation between different actors regarding promotion of return to work of sickness absentees Kristina Alexanderson	128

A health care jigsaw: Reorienting primary health services towards a population health focus Toni Ashton	132
Integrated health management for the elderly Martin Sprenger	140
The aims of meta-analysis and the public health literature Paolo Villari	145
 Collaborative efforts at the European level
Collaboration between the European Commission (EC) and the European Public Health Association (EUPHA) Wilhelm Kirch, Horst Kloppenburg	150
 Public Health Policies in Europe
	157
Introduction: European and regional health policies	158
 European health policies
The role of WHO in European public health Nedret Emiroglu	160
The public health policy of the European Union Horst Kloppenburg	165
Are current policies leading to healthier food in Europe? Christopher Birt, Enni Mertanen	167
 Health policies for some transition countries
Slovenia's path through transition: an example to learn from or hidden agendas missed? Tit Albreht	173
Changes in Europe, modern public health and the Slovenian experience Božidar Voljč	180
Health sector reform, fiscal sustainability and why we need more public health in Eastern Europe Armin Fidler	185

Public Health Knowledge and Perspectives	193
Exploring and framing the knowledge base of public health Horst Noack	194
Developing an analytical framework for categorising the knowledge base of European public health: content analysis of selected presentations at the “EUPHA 2005 Conference Ursula Reichenpfader, Horst Noack	203
Observations, views and perspectives on health policy and practice as shared by the public health community: an explorative study Christoph Pammer, Horst Noack	221
Conclusions	243
Major challenges for public health policy in Europe Mihály Kökeny	244
A summary in two kinds of notes Hans Saan	246
Towards a healthier future Horst Noack	249
List of Authors	257